No need to hide from Genealogists!
Where to Begin?

Ge·ne·al·o·gy:
The study or investigation of ancestry & family histories

• Who are Genealogists?
• What are They Seeking?
• Where Can You Find Answers?

Who Are You Helping?

• There are two main types of genealogists:
  – Patrons visiting your community looking for local ancestors
  – Patrons from your community looking for ancestors elsewhere
  – What are they seeking? EVERYTHING!
Genealogy Materials @ Your Library

• Assess your collections
  – What genealogy resources do you have?
  – County Histories & Reference Books
  – Maps
  – Newspapers
  – Phone Books/City Directories etc.

• Create finding aids for your genealogical information highlighting these resources

Genealogy Materials @ Your Library

• Is there a historical or genealogical society in your area you can rely on for information?

• Who else may collect genealogy records and artifacts in your area?

• Does Your library participate in Inter-Library Loan?
Genealogy online @ Your Library

• Does your library subscribe to online genealogy resources?

• Does your library link to other genealogy websites on your website?

• Has your library created online genealogy resources for items within your collections?
  – obit index
  – Historic photos

The Reference Interview

Conducting a Reference Interview

• Assess their skill level

• Common types of questions include:
  – Directional
  – Beginning methodology
  – Experiential research

• Three main points to a genealogy question: name, place & time
Conducting A Reference Interview

• Keep it Simple
  – Limit patrons to two main topics
  – Keep them on point
  – Set a time limit
  – Schedule a follow-up interview
  – Ask guided questions

Conducting A Reference Interview

• What to ask in your reference interview:
  – What do you know?
  – What records do you already have?
  – What resources have you already used?
  – What do you want to accomplish?
Things to Know: Census

- Census returns are widely available online for free and can help any researcher begin to trace their ancestor
  - Federal Censuses have been recorded every 10 years on the zeros since 1790
  - Each census collects different information
  - 1790-1840 censuses only listed names of head-of-household
  - 1850-present every name within the household is recorded
  - 1940 is the most recent census available online to the public
Things to Know: Vital Records

- Vital Records are birth, marriages and deaths recorded by city/county/state
  - Each state sets their own laws and regulations regarding access to vital records
  - Vital records collection dates varies from state to state
  - Illinois began recording marriages in 1763 (statehood 1818)
  - Illinois deaths and birth registration began in November 1877, but was requested not required until 1914

Missouri Death Records to 1965 are available online for free http://s1.sos.mo.gov/records/archives/archivesdb/deathcertificates

Illinois marriage indexes are available online For free through www.familysearch.org & Illinois State Archives www.cyberdriveillinois.org
Things to Know: Newspapers

- Newspaper indexes and digitized editions can be extremely helpful in filling in details of an ancestor's life
  - Many websites offer free access to digitized newspapers
  - Every-name searches help avoid the need for exact dates
  - Cast a wide net; don't limit your search to just your town, newsworthy stories could run across the globe
  - Don't limit your search by date
  - Be flexible in your spellings

Girl Kills Sweetheart Who Threatened Dog

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 9.—(P) Because he threatened to kill her pet Pekingese, police say, Milton Smith, 28 years old, was shot to death today by his 21-year-old sweetheart, Hazel Blacketer.

Miss Blacketer was quoted by police as saying Smith accused her of loving “Snooks” more than she loved him. He started to leave her apartment, she said, taking the dog.

With Snooks cuddled under her fur coat, Miss Blacketer, sitting at police headquarters, said: “I’m sorry I shot him. But he had no business treating my dog that way.”
